Tractors can be used to skid logs

Dangers of logging reduced by knowledge equipment and training, experts explain

by SUE COOPER
Staff Reporter

Once considered a dangerous difficult job, logging operations now can be safe and efficient when proper techniques are utilized, the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Canadian Forestry Service told woodlot owners, Saturday.

The woodlot owners field day, organized at the Rotherham-Morrier private woodlot in Harburn Township, was co-sponsored by the MNR, Minden District and the Petawawa National Forestry Institute. During the day, demonstrations of directional felling and skidding operations were performed.

Vince Gervais of the Canadian Forestry Institute began the day by discussing recent developments in safety equipment which reduce the chances of injury. The safety equipment, hard hat, with earmuffs, face screen, non-breakable goggles, boots with ballistic nylon inserts, chainsaw gloves with the left mitt lined with ballistic materials and chainsaw safety pants, was worn by Gervais.

"Guarding yourself only helps about 10 per cent," he told the audience.

In the bush, accidents usually happen when loggers are working with a chainsaw and often during tree felling. Although a logger may be wearing safety equipment, Gervais said it is important to make sure he works safely. "The other 90 per cent of the responsibility still rests with us," he said.

Inexperienced woodlot owners wishing to improve their stands, should talk to an experienced bushman who could pass on valuable skills, Gervais said.

Safety chain for the saw is recommended for any beginner or casual user, Gervais added. Safety chain reduces the chance of injury compared to regular saw chain, he said.

Learning to file the chain properly to ensure the saw is cutting efficiently is a must for beginners, Gervais said.

"Anyone of us can learn it in a reasonable amount of time," Gervais said, again suggesting an experienced woodsman would be able to explain the intricacies of filing a chain properly.

During the demonstration, chainsaw kickback, which can cause serious injury to the chain saw operator, was explained. If the tooth depth gauge is 25/1000th the saw cuts well on the bottom and the top of the bar but when the chain rounds the end of the bar, the angle changes and it tries to cut over 60/1000th, Gervais explained. At that angle the chain will stall and the anti-force kicks the saw back, often towards the operator.

In the bush, the representatives of the two agencies demonstrated a kick-back and the effectiveness of the chain breaks installed on the saws.

Woodlot owners were given tree-felling de-

Bicroft chairman dies unexpectedly following surgery

Merideth Amm, chairman of the Improvement District of Bicroft and a member of Haliburton County council, died Saturday, three days after he had undergone surgery for lung cancer. He was 68.

A longtime resident of Bicroft, Amm came to the area in the heyday of the uranium mining industry, and worked as a purchasing agent for Bicroft Mines. He purchased a house in the community, and when the mine closed, he worked for a short time as secretary-treasurer of the Improvement District. He then took a job in the mining industry in Newfoundland, where he remained for 12 years.

Upon his retirement, he returned to his home in Cardiff township.

In January, 1979, he was appointed by the Province of Ontario to succeed Jerry Howarth as chairman of the Improvement District of Bicroft, a position he held until his death last week-end.

In addition to his responsibilities as chairman, Amm served on county council's planning committee, and was council's representative to the Kawartha/Haliburton Children's Aid Society.

Memorial service Wednesday

He showed great interest in the operation of the society, serving as its second vice president, as co-chairman of the personnel committee, and as a member of the services committee, negotiating committee and review committee.

His death was sudden and unexpected. Exploratory surgery had been scheduled after a routine X-ray revealed a shadow on one of his lungs. The operation was performed Tuesday, and on Wednesday and Thursday, he appeared to be making a routine recovery. His condition began to deteriorate on Friday, however, and at approximately 5 a.m. Saturday, he died.

He is survived by his wife Dorothy, two daughters, and several grandchildren.

In accordance with his wishes, his body has been donated for scientific use.

A memorial service will be held today (Wednesday) at 3 p.m. and Bancroft's Anglican Church.

Education minister unveils Bill 82 funding scheme

At least one of the questions surrounding the implementation of Bill 82, the sweeping new legislation that guarantees every child the right to education geared to his or her needs, was answered last week when education minister Dr. Bette Stephenson unveiled the province's funding plans.

Speaking to school board chairmen and education officials at a meeting in Toronto last Thursday, Stephenson said the ministry intends to provide additional dollars for special education based on total student enrolment in each board's jurisdiction.

In 1982, "this amount will

Veneer plant to increase production

At least 20 new employees will be needed once renovations completed

More than 20 jobs will be created when Wilberforce Veneer and Lumber Company has its new plant in full production, a company spokesman said Monday.

During the past month, the company has been refurbishing its old plant on the main street of Wilberforce to create a new wood-working factory. In the plant, three presses as well as sanders, shapers, splitters and routers will be installed. Chairs, wooden plates, furniture components and hockey stick blades will be made in the new expansion, manager Floyd Tighe said.

At present, nine jobs have been created and Tighe said the company plans to hire over 20 new employees to operate the plant.

The old building is being painted and panelled inside to prepare for the new manufacturing process, Tighe said. Although this is a new branch for the Wilberforce plant, Tighe said the company's sister plant is involved in similar production. "It's different operation than the veneer was," Tighe said.

Since the operation is new to the community, Tighe said the company will train its new personnel to operate the machines. Although the pressing operation has begun, Tighe said he hoped to have the sanding machine operating in the next week. Presently, repairs to the boiler in the old plant are slowing the renovation in the new plant, Tighe said.

Some of the products, like the wooden plates, will be finished but the furniture components and hockey stick blades will be sent to other factories for finishing, Tighe said.

He had no exact estimate of the cost to outfit the new plant.

representatives after the initial conciliation meeting and struck an agreement.

As well as the increase in pay, the employees will receive additional vacation time, Tighe said.

Involved in the negotiations for the union were Keith Cuchnie, union representative from Pembroke, Arnold Lockwood, Menita Manary and Ann Lewis, members of the local union, and company president Joe Klasner, vice-president Ted Samuels and plant manager Floyd Tighe.

Lumber mill shuts down

High interest rates, economic slowdown drive down lumber prices, cut demand

by SUE COOPER
Staff Reporter

High interest rates and the depressed price of lumber have forced one Haliburton county sawmill to close.

Pelaw-Logging Ltd., on the outskirts of Haliburton Village, is facing a temporary closure that might last through the winter months, co-owner Bill Emmerson said Tuesday.

"We will be closing next week due to the depressed hardwood market and economy," Emmerson said in a telephone interview Tuesday.

The closing at Pelaw Logging, (formerly the Biagi sawmill before it was purchased this year) will affect 30 workers "directly and indirectly", Emmerson said. While the mill will be completely shut down, some stock piling of logs is expected to continue, he said. Truckers and loggers are included in the number to be affected by the closure, Emmerson said.

The mill will close sometime during the next week, Emmerson said, and it will probably not be re-opened until the spring or until the current economic conditions improve.

"Before the mill could run again, the price of lumber has got to come back and the cost of money has got to change," Emmerson said.

Although Emmerson has been involved in the sawmill operation less than a year, he has operated a retail lumber business for many years in Haliburton County.

"Apparently, in the industry this has been the worst long period (with a depressed market) for a great number of years," Emmerson said.

Even though the price of lumber has dropped drama-

Youth is seriously injured in collision near Haliburton

A Haliburton youth was seriously injured when the car he was riding in was hit broadside on Highway 121 in Haliburton Village, Friday evening.

David Bishop Jr., 17, was transferred to Toronto Hospital for Sick Children after initial treatment at Haliburton Red Cross Hospital.

Driver of the car, Pam Iles, 18 of Dysart Township, was treated for minor injuries and released from the Haliburton hospital.

The 1981 Buick was heading west past the intersection of Highway 121 and Highway 519 when the car went out of control. It was struck on the passenger side by an east-bound 1978 jeep.

Driver of the jeep, Jan Munir, was taken to Haliburton hospital for treatment of minor injuries. An unidentified passenger in the jeep was also injured.

The 1981 Buick was written off with $10,000 damage while the jeep was estimated to have sustained $3,500 damage.

Iles was charged with failing to share half the roadway and failing to wear a seat belt assembly.

David Bishop Jr., of Haliburton was seriously injured in a two-car collision in Haliburton Village, Friday evening. He was transferred to Toronto Hospital for Sick Children. Here, ambulance attendants lift Bishop from the wreckage.

be $125 per elementary school pupil and $90 per secondary school pupil," Stephenson said. "These amounts will be increased annually until 1985 when the figures will be $155 and $110 respectively."

Specific amounts per elementary school pupil are $125 in 1982, $135 in 1983, $145 in 1984, and $155 in 1985 and beyond, she told the meeting. For secondary school students, the amount of additional funding will be $90 for 1982, $97 for 1983, $104 for 1984 and $110 for 1985.

"These amounts are in constant 1982 dollars and will be adjusted annually to reflect the increase in the cost of delivering special education programs and services," the minister told the meeting.

"The special educational grants are over and above all other grants that a school board receives," Stephenson said. "This additional amount will be funded one hundred per cent by the provincial government."

As well as outlining the province's financial commitment to the implementation of Bill 82, the minister also presented delegates to the conference with a handbook that outlines the steps local boards will have to take in formulating a plan to put the necessary special education programs in place.

An initial proposal must be submitted to the ministry by May 1 of next year.

Director of education Douglas Hodgson, who attended the meeting last week along with board chairman Ross Anderson and senior elementary school principal Doug Devolin, said a committee of the board will begin the planning process by looking at the whole student population in Haliburton County with a view to identifying exceptional students (gifted as well as learning disabled).

While the mill is closed, Emmerson said the company might make some improvements but no major plans have been discussed. During the shutdown stock-piled lumber will continue to be sold.

Emmerson said the closing of the mill reflects the condition of the lumber market generally, and mills seem to be cutting back or closing. He also noted that British Columbia is having difficulties exporting its lumber.

The showroom on the mill property will be occupied during the winter months as Sir Sandford Fleming College will be conducting a lumber grading course, Emmerson said.

At J.J. Hunter Lumber in Gooderham, Murray Hunter, who is responsible for buying logs was not available for comment but his office reported that logs are still being purchased and that the mill is still operating.

Irene McMann, a staff member at the Hunter sawmill, said the mill is still cutting logs and lumber continues to be moved out of the lumber yard.

The requirements of Bill 82 must be met by September, 1985.

Pat Cavanaugh

New social worker based in Haliburton

The Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society has extended its services to include a full time social worker for Haliburton County.

Pat Cavanaugh recently moved into an office in the Good Medical Centre in Haliburton Village.

A former area supervisor with the Department of Social Services in Fort Smith, N.W.T., Cavanaugh has a Masters Degree in Applied Criminology from the University of Ottawa.

Prior to his arrival, the service in Haliburton County had been based in Lindsay under Bruce Watson, who spent two or three days a week in Haliburton County, and the remaining time in Victoria County. Watson had provided services to Haliburton County since January, 1980, following the retirement of Ernie Eakins.

Cavanaugh's duties will include working with children in their own homes, working with those who live in foster homes, and with those in group homes.

He is also expected to take Watson's place on such local groups as the Social Planning Council and the local advisory board sub committee of the Children's Services Steering Committee.

His responsibilities will include most areas of child welfare and community development. He is interested in working with individuals and groups to develop new services as the need arises and in helping to improve existing services.

Cavanaugh, his wife Rita, two daughters and one son are presently living in the Minden area.

MMAH announces program to fund marina development

The Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing has announced a new provincial grant program to assist the municipal sector in developing and upgrading marina and boating facilities.

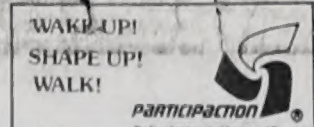

The program is a board of industrial leadership and development initiative to promote boating in Ontario by enhancing the attractiveness and recreational value of waterways.

Approved capital projects will be eligible for provincial assistance equalling 50 per cent of the total cost to a maximum of $50,000 per project. To avoid any burden on local taxpayers, Minister Claude Bennett said he expected municipalities to pay their share out of surpluses or reserves.

Bennett also said eligible projects for the new boating and marina program would have to provide permanent facilities with minimal upkeep costs. He stressed that the projects should be complementary to rather than in competition with private marina operations.

The Province has allocated $1 million per year to the program for each of the next 5 years, for a total of $5 million.

Career week planning begins

by Bob Stinson

The choosing of a career, and the approach required to make it possible is a very major decision in a student's life and all too often is made unwisely due to lack of information on what is available to them and what will be required of them. For the second consecutive year a committee made up of representatives of the High School, the Manpower Outreach office, the Chamber, the Industrial Training Committee signed to meet the local demand for hardwood lumber graders, as determined by surveys conducted by the Haliburton-Bancroft area Industrial Training Committees.

During the four-month program, students will receive two months of academic instruction reinforced by two months of on-site practical training.

Students completing the course may qualify for positions ranging from yard and mill foremen to mill inspectors and supervisors.

and the various service clubs has been established to put on a comprehensive program at the school during Career Week, November 2-6, which was designed last year was extremely successful and will be repeated with a few suggested improvements.

The week begins with a keynote address and presentation to make sure the students are aware of what is to follow and prepare them to participate. Over the next few days they will have the opportunity to select presentations from a variety of about 30 different professions or trades which are delivered by people directly involved in that area. There are also a series of career speakers and panel discussions on a broader base of issues. To wind up the week a banquet is held hosted by the service clubs involved and students are encouraged to chat one on one with many of the business people involved throughout the week.

"We are treating this week with far more seriousness, and with a more complete schedule of activities than any other school that I know of," said Ken Rydman, Guidance Counsellor at the High School, "and the community is really to be commended for its participation." "Many other Chambers who have suggested programs like this tell us the schools in their areas are not interested in cooperating." Chamber Manager Bob Stinson, I think its great that here in the Highlands we have this spirit of working together. In these fast moving times the kids need all the help they can get in examining career alternatives.

Don Popple, of Haliburton, is chairman of career week committee this year and reports that the students created a committee of their own following last year's program and they have provided valuable input into the planning for this year. The report monstrations with safety and effectiveness in mind. Although three notches are used to fell a tree, an MNR representative suggested the V-notch was perhaps the most effective. Some logging companies encourage their loggers to use the humbolt notch because it wastes little of the finished log, but a v-notch is easier to create because the saw does not have to rip through the tree, he said.

When felling a tree take the trunk's lean and the velocity and direction of the wind into account, the MNR expert told the visitors. Once the direction of felling is determined, the logger should clear the area around the trunk of debris and clear a "get away trail" 45 degrees away from direction the tree is expected to fall.

When the desired notch is cut, about one-third of the depth of the tree (for a normal standing tree), the logger should make the back cut approximately one to one and a half inches higher than the bottom cut of the notch, he said.

When the back cut is made higher than the bottom of the notch, it usually prevents the bottom of the tree from kicking back at the logger, the MNR representative explained.

After a break, the group divided in four with skidding demonstrations operating simultaneously in different areas of the bush.

When a logging operation begins, Jon Williams, of the Canadian Forestry Service said, loggers should plan how to harvest the bush. If skidding trails are pre-designated logging can begin at the back of the woodlot allowing more efficient logging to be carried out, Williams said.

If loggers do not have to wade through left over slash and the skidder doesn't make numerous passes through the same, the bush will be damaged less, Williams added.

If a "professional logger" is operating a skidder the damage can be kept to 20 per cent, which is the least amount to be expected because of the damage that is necessarily created by felling, Williams said.

"Some planning and some thought" greatly reduces the amount of damage during a skidding operation, Williams said.

When a skidder is improperly operated, tree root collars can be damaged, leaving them to fall prey to root rot. Damage of this kind is especially serious in hardwoods which are extremely susceptible to this disease. In pine wood lots the damage is not as serious as the tree's tar and pitch repair it naturally.

Williams noted the skidder was the first machine designed specifically to haul logs through the bush.

Although many improvements have been made in the logging business, Gervais said earlier that the horse had not been improved upon. "I hope to see more of them in the bush," he said.

In contrast to a regular sized skidder, the agencies had a mini-skidder hauling log lengths out of the bush. "Since the skidder is usually too big for what it is hauling out 90 per cent of the time," Williams said the mini-skidder might be a compromise.

Instead of skidders, small bulldozers have been used in the bush, but Williams said they were not capable of moving as quickly through the trees as the rubber-wheeled skidders.

As another alternative open to the woodlot owner who wants to harvest his own bushlot, sample farm tractors were skidding logs out of the bush. Woodlot owners are advised to all roll-over protection to the tractor and a rear screen to the tractor's cab area, Williams said.

Horses were also working to pull the logs from the lot during the demonstration.

During the day, MNR representative Dave Leader explained the ministry's Woodland Improvement Act.

Woodlot owners are eligible to four free advisory days during each year. During those days technicians from the Minden District office will plan the area to be cut, estimate the volume of harvest, contact timber buyers, plan wind breaks, manage for wildlife and add beauty to the landscape.

If the woodlot owner wishes to have a more involved role in the improvement plan, he can sign a Woodland Improvement Area agreement with the Ministry. The landowner must have five or more acres, excluding buildings which should not have shallow soil, not be rated highly for agriculture nor be in an area where urban development is probable.

The owner must pay for the nursery stock and protect the woodlot from fire, disease, insects and grazing livestock, under the agreement.

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate, lying and being in the Township of Havelock, in the Provisional County of Haliburton, being composed of part of the original allowance for road between lots 15 and 16, Concession II, in the said township, and which said parcel or tract of land is more particularly described as follows:

PREMISING that the bearings are astronomic and derived from the Southerly limit of Lot 2, Registered Plan 370, having an assumed bearing of North 61 degrees 22 minutes East as shown thereon.

ALL that part of the original allowance for road between Lots 15 and 16, Concession II, in the said township, lying 30 minutes 15 seconds East from the South Easterly angle of Lot 1, Registered Plan 370 and South of the original allowance for road around the shore of KENNISIS LAKE.

AND WHICH SAID parcel or tract of land may be further illustrated shown in heavy outline on a plan of survey by H. C. Bishop, O.L.S., dated September 30, 1981, and available for inspection at the township offices of the Municipality of Dysart et al, Haliburton, Ontario.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that before passing the said By-law and its meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned the Township Council of the Municipality of Dysart et al shall then and there hear in person or by his Counsel, Solicitor or Agent, any person who claims that his land will be affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

Merideth Amm

Improvement District of Bicroft chairman Merideth Amm was not one of the county's better known politicians, at least among the general public, but in the almost three years he served on Haliburton County council, he earned the respect of his colleagues. His sudden and untimely death last week-end has left all who knew him shocked and saddened.

Merideth Amm began his stint on county council in January, 1979, the same month he was appointed by the province to succeed Jerry Howarth as chairman of the District. Shortly after, he was appointed to the thankless job of representing Haliburton County on the Kawartha-Haliburton Childrens Aid Society. The job was a low key one and few county politicians would have been willing to take it. Fewer still would have approached the responsibility of serving on the society's board as seriously as did Merideth Amm. The task took him to Peterborough for meeting after meeting in all kinds of weather. It plunged him into the midst of a controversy over the society's spending practices. It consumed increasing amounts of his time as he took on the additional responsibilities of serving as second vice president and of sitting on a number of committees.

Through all this Merideth Amm was able to sustain a careful and reasoned approach to his job as county councillor. While he displayed a reluctance on occasion to take a stand on questions which came before council, his actions were based not on any fear of censure but on the fact that his geographical location on the eastern fringes of the county removed him from the main stream of some county matters.

His reports to council were thorough, and often enlivened with flashes of wit and colourful turns of phrase.

In his own quiet way, Merideth Amm made an important contribution to the affairs of the county during the last years of his life.

He will not soon be forgotten.

Well done

The people of Anson, Hindon and Minden had reason to be proud recently when their new library cultural centre was officially opened. It had taken years of planning, fund raising, and just plain dogged determination on the part of many people, but the end result appears to have been worth the struggle.

Communities need good libraries, and good libraries need sufficient space. The new facility has room for expansion, and should serve the area's needs for many years to come.

The art gallery portion of the building is also an important addition to the community, since it will enable the public not only to see the late Frank Welch's collection of paintings by Andre Lapine, but also to view the work of local artists and artisans in a pleasant and effective setting.

In years to come, the library/cultural centre should prove to be a focal point for many community activities. It was a costly and difficult venture, but its worth will be proven if it gets the use it deserves.

All who had a hand in making the building a reality deserve the community's thanks.

Education's loss

The recent resignation of Anson, Hindon and Minden trustee Lloyd Johnson from the Haliburton County Board of Education has left a gap in the board that will not easily be filled. A nine year veteran of board affairs, Johnson never fell short of his commitment to put the interests of the educational system ahead of any personal ambitions he may have had as a trustee. Never one to make a snap decision, Johnson worked quietly but effectively. He considered the arguments, listened intently to his colleagues, then stated his position on any particular issue carefully and articulately. In so doing, he never failed to add something new to the board's deliberations.

It is perhaps typical of the man that his resignation was precipitated not by any diminishing interest in his duties as a trustee, but by his belief that he could no longer devote as much time to board work as he felt the job demanded.

His urbanity and wisdom were important assets to the board. He will certainly be missed.

Amm: 'A man of great sensitivity'

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Board of Directors and Staff of the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society, I wish to express to the people of Haliburton County our sincere sympathy at the sudden death of Mr. Merideth Amm.

Mr. Amm was held in high regard and was very well liked, by his fellow board members. At our Annual Board Meeting last February, he was voted by the Board Members to hold the position of 2nd Vice President. He also served our Society as Co-Chairperson of the Personnel Committee, was a member of the Services Committee, Negotiating Committee and the Review Committee.

Mr. Amm was a member who not only cared about his own particular area and the services we provided there, but he also cared very deeply about the programs and services our society provided to the entire population we serve.

One of the more recent items he was instrumental in was the hiring of a Social Worker who would work entirely in Haliburton County. He was always very much concerned with the limited amount of time and services that were being given to that particular area with a worker who was based out of our Lindsay office. No one on our Board was more delighted than Mr. Amm, when, during the month of September we found the necessary funds to be able to open an office in Minden and provide a highly qualified Social Worker to assist the residents of Haliburton on a full time basis.

It has been said that no amount of money could ever buy love and respect, it was something that had to be earned. I can assure the people of Haliburton County that no person who has served on our Board of Directors has been able to earn the love and respect from all of us more than our dear friend, Merideth!

He was truly a man of great sensitivity, compassion, humor, and most important, a man who cared from the bottom of his heart about all people, both rich and poor.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people of Haliburton County for allowing us, at the Children's Aid Society, a chance to get to know and work with such a great man.

Sincerely,
Judith Kyle

CRTC decision silences serious music

Editor's Notebook

by LEN PIZZEY

News that the CRTC would wield its sword and silence an FM radio station based in Cobourg, Ontario has drawn widespread protest from classical music lovers in an area that stretches from Lake Ontario to Haliburton County.

In forcing the closure of the station, the CRTC was in effect telling the rest of the Canadian broadcast world to beware. Keep in line, comply with dictates and you'll go on unhindered. Dare to cross the commissioners and they'll reward you by revoking your license.

To be fair, the Cobourg station did have its problems, and perhaps the CRTC was not entirely unreasonable in asking the station's owners to do things a little better. Months ago, the CRTC ordered the owners to make technical improvements, to provide more reliable service, and to increase the size of the station's record library. But is the alternative reasonable? Did the station deserve to be taken off the air for its transgressions against the CRTC's self made rules and regulations?

The answer for thousands of faithful listeners in the area the station served is a resounding 'no'. And that 'no' is based on the fact that the station was providing a service that other stations were not prepared to offer.

For lovers of serious music, the CRTC's decision to shut down the station was but one more example of how the quality of cultural experience in this country is continually being eroded by the forces of mediocrity. Had there been another choice on the FM dial where classical music could be heard day and night, the loss would not have been so seriously felt. But in Haliburton, where there is a paucity of cultural experience, it was a serious matter indeed.

Today, the FM dial in the Haliburton area produces only the insipid, incessant, sugar-coated background music of CHAY, or the raucous and mind numbing assault of rock.

And for people who believe music should be an enriching and uplifting experience, that is no choice at all.

Feir Play

by Creighton Feir

The National Hockey League season will soon be getting underway and this means that it's hockey time once again here in good old Haliburton County. The ice has been left in the arena at Haliburton and the local boys have been practising for some time now. The artificial ice will be going into the arenas at both Minden and Wilberforce very soon and the hockey season in Haliburton County will be in full swing. The Haliburton Huskies are already underway playing in the regular schedule and they are going to need your support if they are to make the playoffs and go on to bigger and better things. The Huskies, who are playing in the eight team Georgian Bay Junior C League, have the ability and talent to win quite a number of games this year, but it is certainly a lot easier when the players feel that the local fans are behind them. There's no doubt about it the 1981-82 version of the Huskies are definitely better than the team that was iced last season. It is also to be hoped that during this coming season more parents and fans will get out and show their moral support for the boys who play minor hockey and will be the future citizens of tomorrow.

Just recently I met Alex Lopez on the main street and he was telling me that he was in Haliburton for the week-end and is attending school in Toronto. Alex was a former exchange student to Haliburton. Alex is a very popular fellow and we are glad to see him back.

Due to my work schedule I don't seem to have the time to see the H.H.S.S. Redmen football team in action. Last week I did take a little bit of time off to watch a small part of the game with Brock and I was certainly pleased with what I saw. It looks as though the Redmen will be a strong contender once again this year. I was talking with a fellow just the other day who seemed to be very interested in finding out how the Redmen got their name. He said he was asking around but just couldn't get an answer to his question.

John Spillenaar of South Porcupine will be the guest speaker when the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship in Canada holds its monthly dinner meeting at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in Haliburton on Friday, October 16 at 7:00 p.m. John Spillenaar and his wife Tyne have four children. While in the Canadian Northland as a missionary pilot, he encountered numerous occasions when his aircraft went down. After 25 years of missionary work in the Arctic among the Indians, he retired. In 1976 John accepted the calling to bring the Gospel to the Eskimos in the high arctic and the "Harvest Field" was born.

The annual "Flowers of Hope" campaign organized by the Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded is well underway. By this time, everyone in Haliburton County should have received their yellow envelopes in the mail containing crocus bulbs. We hope that you will mail back your contribution as soon as possible. There will be no door to canvass this year. The objective of the local association is to include provision of services, where it is feasible, for the identified retarded persons in Haliburton County.

Beth Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cooper of West Guilford, Ontario who was the Haliburton Rotary Club's exchange student to Finland, was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the local Rotary Club. She told the members how much she had enjoyed the visit to Finland and of all the wonderful places she visited on her travels. She also presented a slide presentation.

The Toronto Star are publishing a nightly feature on their sports page N.H.L. Countdown in which they are taking a look at each of the 21 teams in the league, giving a list of the changes they have made in their rosters since last year and just how well we can expect each team to do this season. Just recently they featured the Los Angeles Kings and stated that Bernie Nicholls was a hot prospect to catch on with this year's team.

This Friday will be the beginning of the Thanksgiving week-end. If it runs in the pattern of the past several years this week-end should see hundreds streaming by car and bus to the Haliburton Highlands to get a look at the leaves in all their glorious color. Many will be taking this opportunity to lock up the cottage until next year while others will be coming home to the Highlands to visit friends and relatives. Whether this is your first visit or just one of many to the beautiful Highlands we sincerely hope that we will have nice weather for the occasion.

Rotary District Governor for District 701 Willis Cleveland paid his official visit to the Rotary Club of Minden on Monday evening, September 28 and will be in Haliburton to visit the club there sometime in November.

It seems a shame to think that there is very little as far as special events or entertainment being lined up during our fall colour season. It appears to me that some organization should be taking the initiative to spearhead a drive to come up with a programme such as the festival that at one time was the main attraction in the village of Haliburton during the fall season. It's very hard to realize very much money from Festival but we have to chalk it up as a good promotion that will bring people into the area. We seem to be sitting back and not trying to capitalize on the wonderful fall scenery that is all around us. This is one area that the Highlands of Haliburton seem to be doing nothing about. If you have any suggestions let us here about them.

VIEWPOINT

Pic of the Past

Our thanks go out this week to Steve Walling of RR#3, Woodville, Ontario for submitting the above photo which was taken about the year 1929 showing the Haliburton Girl Guides of that day and their leaders standing in front of their float at the Haliburton Fairgrounds just prior to one of the calithumpian parades which were held annually at that time. It is unfortunate but we do not have the names of all those in the photo but some of our senior citizens may recognize Blanche Gregory who is at the front on the right hand side and Mrs. A.G. Schofield shown behind her. Others may be able to identify the others in the photo.

Bill Smiley

It's been a tough day. This morning I ducked home from work to say goodbye to daughter Kim and the grand-boys, who are off to Hull. (Dear proof-reader, that is Hull, Que., not Hell.)

Kim summing-up was honest but not bitter: "When you put every ounce of your energy, enthusiasm, imagination and belief in the best values in life into a job, and receive in return apathy, sullenness, indifference, and even physical violence, there must be some better job around somewhere." Right on.

I spent a week with her last spring, and she still retained a vestige of those attributes, but it was wearing thin.

I'm amazed that any young person wants to get into teaching. In the twilight of my own teaching career, I can look back and see some of the pleasures: summer holidays; the occasional class that was fun, and bright, and made you feel like a kindly uncle. And that's the list.

There's something terribly wrong with our educational system, but it's too comlicated to put my finger on (in this space). When I've retired I plan to be appointed to a Commission (at $100 a day) to examine the problems, make a report, and have it ignored.

Anyway, Kim is off to Hull, the anus of Quebec. She wants to learn French, expose her children to it, and find a job. I think she must have glimpsed those headlines a few weeks ago, stating that our top civil servants were the highest paid in the world. And about a third of the civil servants are in Hull, just across from Ottawa.

Maybe she'll hit it lucky and Pierre Trudeau will fall in love with her and marry her. She's just about the right age for him, under half his. And this would give him a family of five boys. Another couple and he'd have a hockey team, and in 1999 Canada might win the Canada Cup. But all this is as likely as yours truly going to Heaven.

They left in a battered Datsun that uses a quart of oil to a quart of gas, has to have the radiator filled every 20 miles, and has tires of tissue paper. It's an eight hour drive. I'm praying, something I seldom do, except when I get in a mess, fall on my knees, and plead, "For God's sake, God, get me out of this." Like most people.

But, by golly, Kim is going back to her roots, whether she knows it or not. Back to the Ottawa Valley, where her great-grandmother was an itinerant music teacher, her great-great uncle a holy terror in fights among lumberjacks.

She has dozens of cousins in the area, on both the Quebec and Ontario side, whom she has never seen. Tonight, if the Datsun holds up, she'll be staying with her aunt Flora, in Perth, whom she hasn't seen since she was about four months old.

Flora will feed her with food, homilies, good advice, dozens of addresses, and spunk. The last will be needless, because Kim has lots of it, but they can exchange a bit of spunk, and maybe a few angles on feminism or whose children/grandchildren are the best/worst.

Kim might even see the house where her father was bungled up. Or the river where he used to catch fish. Or the school in which he took seven years to get through the normal five.

Only one problem. She saved enough money while teaching up North to keep her going for a few months, but she needs a job. There's little chance of her getting one in Hull, where you must speak French. She got 54 in French in high school, and what she learned there would barely enable her to order a meal unless it was "un chien hot" or "des poissons et french fries."

That's where the old man comes in. Danged if I'll buy her a new car. Danged if I'll pay her rent, although she can stay here, free, as long as she wants. Danged if I'll send her money when she can go on welfare.

But I do have some old friends in Ottawa. How would she like to be the receptionist of Dr. Norman Lightford, a dental surgeon?

Or should I start right at the top? My old friend Robert Cameron, late Canadian Ambassador to Poland, might need a girl to bring coffee during his morning breaks.

Dave McIntosh, a Canadian Press journalist for more years than he cares to mention, might find her a job as a research assistant. He is now a successful author, and might want to find out where he was born, and who his girl-friend was in Grade 1, for the new book he's writing. Kim can even type better than Dave does.

How about Jannie Meisel, as we used to know him at Varsity, before he became a professor at Queen's, and more recently, head of the CRTC? Surely he'd have a spot for a girl who is unilingual, unisexual, and has a couple of kids who know something of the Cree Indian tongue?

I can see that I'm going to have to spend a long time on the typewriter, knocking off letters to people who say, when their secretaries bring in the mail, marked "personal", "Bill who?"

But Paul Gormley will find a spot for her. He worked in Public Relations for half the agencies in Ottawa, loves music, and has a soft spot for my wife. No problem, Kim.

Ad valorem gas tax fuels inflation

Queen's Park Report

by MPP John Eakins

In a recent column I drew your attention to the ad valorem tax on gasoline, and I would like to continue the discussion this week.

In response to criticism of this tax, the Treasurer of Ontario recently stressed that Ontario's own energy-related expenditures will rise dramatically due to the pricing agreement between Alberta and the Federal Government. Just as the ordinary consumer will have to pay more to drive his car or heat his home, the Ontario Government will find it more costly to heat schools and hospitals, build roads, and so forth. The Treasurer estimates that the additional energy costs to the Province will be about $4.6 billion by 1986, while revenue gains from both the ad valorem gasoline tax and other provincial taxes will total at most only $1.8 billion. According to his Ministry's forecast, the Government will face a cumulative shortfall of some $2.7 billion.

The obvious implication here is that the inflationary impact of price hikes resulting from the oil pricing agreement on the Ontario Government's own budget somehow justifies the imposition of a percentage (ad valorem) tax directly on consumers. In the Treasurer's own words, "This forecast of revenues and expenditures for Ontario (proves) that opposition claims regarding ad valorem yields are highly unwarranted." An analysis made by my party suggests that it is the Treasurer's forecast which is incorrect. According to our calculations, he has underestimated the likely revenue gains from the ad valorem tax over the next five years by over $6 billion. We estimate that the ad valorem tax will net Ontario not between $800 million and $1 billion, but a total of over $7 billion by 1986.

Moreover, the Treasurer acknowledges that when the inflationary pressures resulting from the oil pricing agreement have worked their way through the tax system, the Province will yield additional revenue of "perhaps $400 to $800 million" by 1986. This forecast is also expected to prove low as higher energy costs come to be reflected in higher wage settlements, and higher prices, which in turn will boost income and sales tax revenues to the Ontario Treasury.

The forecast game, however, is not the real issue. Whether or not the Alberta-Ottawa oil agreement augments Ontario's debt load in the future, the ad valorem tax is an unwarranted tax burden on the people of this Province. In human terms, it is manifestly unjust at a time when people are being battered by inflation, high interest rates, food costs, etc. As a silent, automatically escalating tax, the ad valorem both undermines the democratic principle of accountability and exacerbates the inflation crisis.

The following is a copy of a telegram that has been sent to Dr. John Meisel, Chairman of the Canadian Radio, Television and Telecommunications Commission, Ottawa:

RE: Proposed closure of CFMX-FM Radio Station

Because of our geographical location, CFMX-FM Cobourg is the only station featuring classical music which can be heard in Haliburton County and surrounding areas of Central Ontario on a continuous basis.

By taking it off the air, you are depriving a very large number of listeners, especially those of us living in rural areas, of a service which cannot be replaced, since concerts and other cultural events are at a minimum here.

Starting next Wednesday, we will no longer have a choice between the superabundance of popular music and the relative scarcity of the symphonic kind. Classical music will not be available to us at all.

Why not allow a large territory and audience such as ours to retain the one and only classical station it is receiving now.

Please keep CFMX-FM on the air! To us, our families and to many other individuals we represent, life without it will be poorer and sadder indeed!

Company succeeds where others can't

Serendipity

by SUE COOPER

Wilberforce Veneer and Lumber Company has moved ahead again. In the small hamlet on the outskirts of Haliburton County, this company which has its roots in the United States, is progressing.

Last year the company officially opened its new veneer mill, which cost approximately $1 million. It was a turning point for the industry which had been operating principally from an out-dated mill site on the main street of the hamlet.

During that transformation period, the old plant was improved with siding, but the inside seemed dark and forbidding to visitors.

Now that building has changed too. With the news that furniture components, chairs, hockey stick blades and wooden plates are now being manufactured, the old plant is undergoing repairs. Panelling and paint will recover the walls. New machinery is being installed.

And best of all, over 20 jobs will be created by this expansion. In a community of Wilberforce's size, this is an outstanding number. Those jobs will make the community a more profitable place to live and work.

As it has in the past, Wilberforce is progressing. Wilberforce Veneer and Lumber Company is breaking through the industrial drawbacks that have seemingly blocked any efforts to establish industry in the county.

Although there is not a major highway to the village, the industry exists there. Even though Department of Regional Economic Expansion grants aren't available, the company continues to expand.

At a time of year when only a cold long winter lurks ahead, Wilberforce Veneer is offering a light at the end of the tunnel.

Both goal tenders were kept busy in the Huskies two game season opening series against Parry Sound over the weekend. The Huskies got good work from Craig Wood and Colin Newell between the pipes.

Only Lindsay team can deny the Redmen the league title

The Haliburton High School Redmen will finish no worse than second in the five team Kawartha West division, and could be on their way to a league championship. The outcome will depend on how the local team fares in their final two games of the season against I.E. Weldon Secondary school. Like the Redmen, Weldon remains undefeated, but unlike the Redmen, the Lindsay school has yet to face a tough test.

Friday, the Redmen travelled to Lindsay for a game against LCVI, and when the final whistle sounded, Haliburton had passed and run to their third victory in as many games.

The Redmen made it look easy, holding LCVI to a single touchdown, but the victory receiver Mike Halkoski wound up with injured ligaments in his shoulder after a rough tackle that drew a penalty for LCVI, and will be out for at least one of the remaining three games in the regular season.

Gusty winds were a factor in Friday's game, but Haliburton's aggressive play largely neutralized Lindsay's attack both on the ground and in the air.

The Redmen got on the scoreboard early in the first quarter on a series that began when Lindsay was caught behind the line of scrimmage after a bad snap from centre on a third down kicking situation. The Redmen marched down field in five plays, earning a touchdown on a short plunge by Brent Moxam.

Tim Davies' convert attempt was good, and the Redmen were out in front 7-0.

Neither team was able to get a point for the rest of the opening quarter, but early in the second, Rob Metcalf blocked an LCVI punt and the ball was scooped up by Ernie Mosgrove, who ran in for the touchdown.

Davies' convert attempt was good once more and the score stood at 14-0 in favour of the Redmen.

Minutes later the pattern was reversed as a Redmen punt was blocked at midfield. LCVI got possession and marched downfield, notching six points with an off-tackle plunge.

Hoping to narrow the gap to six, Lindsay attempted a two point conversion, but the Redmen nullified the effort and LCVI was left trailing by eight.

On the kickoff the Redmen reached midfield, then ground out successive first downs that culminated in a 20 yard pass and run touchdown from Davies to Mike Halkoski.

Again the convert was good and Haliburton went to the dressing room at the half with a 21-6 edge.

In the third quarter, LCVI managed a single point, but the Redmen defensive unit came up big, stopping Lindsay cold on a first down and goal to go from the six yard line.

Ron Yake and Rich Choy were key tacklers in the Redmen's goal line stand.

Ontario Hunting Summary now available from MNR

The Fall 1981 - Spring 1982 Ontario Hunting Summary is now available in sporting goods stores, from licence issuers, and at local Ministry offices. Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope has announced.

The summary is a ready reference for details of the forthcoming big game, small game, and waterfowl seasons, Pope said. Information on the various seasons and regulations was released to the media previously.

It should be noted that the open season on raccoon runs from October 15, 1981 to December 31, 1981, not to February 28, 1982 as stated in the summary.

Huskies win two season openers

New rule eliminating centre line pressures goalies and defense

The Haliburton Huskies opened the 81-82 Junior 'C' season in the best possible way over the week end, winning both ends of a home and home series against the division finalists of last year, the Parry Sound Shamrocks.

New rule changes in the OHA this year designed to speed up the game appeared to be working over the week end. The elimination of the centre line opened up a number of two on one and three on one breaks, putting pressure on goalies and defense.

Both Huskies goalies played well in the contests. Veteran Craig Wood came up with a number of excellent saves Friday night, while rookie Colin Newell, who saw limited action in the latter games of last season, also came up with a solid performance in the crease in Parry Sound.

More than 250 fans were on hand at the Dystart arena Friday night to see the new Huskies get their first test, and the spectators weren't disappointed.

Haliburton got on the board first, eight minutes and 35 seconds after the opening faceoff when Roger Hicks took a pass from Ron Yake and Shawn Chapman, beating the Parry Sound goaltender cleanly. The lead was shortlived however, as Parry Sound came back to even the score only seconds later.

Parry Sound wasted little time in taking the lead on a three man passing play but the Huskies came back to even the score, this time off the stick of Tim Davies. Assisting on the play were Chapman and Cory Walker.

With three minutes and 26 seconds left in the opening frame, Parry Sound moved back into the lead and the score stood at 3-2 going into the second.

Parry Sound stretched their lead to two goals at the 3:09 mark and the Huskies were unable to click for the next three minutes. Then, at 6:10, the Huskies got an opportunity to test their power play for the first time, and it proved to be potent. In one minute and fifteen seconds Haliburton blasted three shots into the Parry Sound mesh, gaining the lead for the first time in the game.

Scoring for the Huskies were Scott Arbuthnot from Tim Davies, Davies from Hicks and Craig Wood, and Dean Curry from Yake and Hicks.

Neither team was able to connect for the next ten minutes of end to end action, but Parry Sound got one more with a little over a minute left in the period to even the score.

In the third period, the Huskies took the lead again less than a minute and a half after the faceoff, as Dean Curry found the mark, assisted by Arbuthnot and Yake.

The goal proved to be the winner for the Huskies, as they notched up a crowd pleasing 6-5 victory.

Sunday's return match proved to be a very similar game on the scoreboard, with only a single goal separating the teams when the final buzzer sounded.

The Huskies were slow off the mark in the first period, but Parry Sound managed a single goal on a powerplay while Gary Harrison was sitting out on a minor infraction.

In the second period, however, the Huskies exploded for four goals, two on power plays and two while playing shorthanded.

Scott Rae was the key player in the Huskies assault on the Parry Sound mesh, assisting on each of the markers.

Scoring were Yake from Rae and Jim Lee, Chapman from Yake and Rae, Yake from Rae and Arbuthnot, and Chapman from Rae.

Parry Sound managed two goals in the period and trailed 4-3 at the end of the second period.

In the third period, Haliburton took a commanding three goal lead on markers by Duff Mitchell from Cory Walker and Tim Davies, and Davies unassisted. But Parry Sound narrowed the gap to a single goal before Yake got what proved to be the winner seven minutes and 51 seconds into the third period.

Ski club loses funds

The club has $1700 less to maintain trails

by SUE COOPER
Staff Reporter

The Haliburton Highlands Cross Country Ski Club will be receiving almost $1700 less in provincial grants to help maintain trails in the county, this season.

The Ministry of Natural Resources which denied funds for snowmobile trails, informed the ski club that money would not be available for trail grooming this year.

condos into the period. Assisting on the play were Davies and Arbuthnot.

Parry Sound cut the lead to one on a shorthanded goal a little over a minute later, but they were unable to connect for the rest of the game, as Newell and the defense teamed up to nullify the home team's attack.

Yake and Rae were the game's first and second stars, while Parry Sound's Tyler Scarr was his team's top player.

Colin Newell had an impressive 30 stops in the net, nine of them in the final period to assure the Huskies victory.

Since the club's inception it has received a grant of $1,200 annually and last year received an increase of $480 for trails in Snowdon Township, Bob Heyes, spokesman for the club said Tuesday.

Heyes said the funds were withdrawn "rather abruptly" when the club received a letter in September outlining the lack of funds.

"I don't know what we're going to do," Heyes said.

In the past, members of the Lake Kashagwigamog Tourist Association pledged money towards the maintenance of the trails, so Heyes said a meeting to discuss the problem would have to be arranged. As well, PineStone Inn provided an Alpine trail groomer with the grant meeting only a small portion of the cost, Heyes said.

The only other monies raised by the club were from family registration fees of $5, but it only "helped to keep the club alive", with less than 100 families joining, Heyes said.

Along with the grooming responsibilities, the club also purchased insurance and produced maps of the trails.

Although the club is faced with a "zero budget" Heyes said he feels a solution can be found.

"I can't imagine the trail system falling apart because we didn't get a grant," he said.

The trails also need signs as they are torn down annually, and that adds an additional cost, Heyes said.

Heyes said the club was fortunate that it did not develop an extensive trail system as it will probably be able to maintain the 40 to 50 kilometres that now exist.

"I'm sure we want to keep this trail system open," he said.

Opening of 1981 season has increase in success rate

The opening day of the 1981 waterfowl season commenced September 26 in the Lindsay District. Conservation Officers checked 310 hunters who killed 348 waterfowl. The hunter success was 1.12 waterfowl per hunter. This was up from 1980's success of .9 per hunter. The first three species recorded as being killed were: Woodduck 117, 33.6 per cent of total harvest; Mallard 94, 27.0 per cent of total harvest; Blue-winged Teal 52, 15.0 per cent of total harvest.

This was the first year that Woodduck topped the list in the waterfowl species shot. The Mallard has always been first in past records. Hunter success opening week has been very good with reports of many waterfowl being taken.

The best hunting results recorded during checks were in the Belmont Township area at an average of 2.0 ducks per hunter and the Otonabee River, Rice Lake area at 1.9 ducks per hunter.

Conservation Officers laid 15 charges against hunters involved in illegal activities. These charges were:

- hunting without licences
- hunting with unplugged shotguns
- loaded firearms in a power boat
- unencased firearms during the periods of 1/2 hour before sunrise and 1/2 hour after sunset
- having an overlimit of waterfowl.

Regulations pertaining to hunting are found in the summary of the Hunting Regulations 1981. These are free at any licence issuer or Ministry of Natural Resources office.

Annual reports given at rally

by Wilma Tamblin

About 60 women from Carnarvon, Gooderham, Haliburton, Ingoldsby, Lochlin, Maple Lake, Minden, Tory Hill and Wilberforce met at Haliburton United Church on September 23 for the fall rally of Region 6, U.C.W. Mrs. Roland Sedgwick, chairman, opened the morning session. Rev. John James of Haliburton United Church extended a warm welcome to the members. Morning devotions were the responsibility of Carnarvon U.C.W. The meditation opened with the question "Do you know the lovely truths about the opal?" Its most significant feature is that it owes its beauty to a defect. The offering was received and dedicated by Gooderham U.C.W. Ingoldsby invited the ladies to meet there for the 1982 Rally.

Each U.C.W. responded to the roll call by giving reports on their activities throughout the year. Some of these activities included sponsoring girls to Top Alpha and Teen Conferences, films, pot luck suppers, speakers, visiting Hyland Crest Home, and the making of quilts. Lochlin U.C.W. were inventive and gave their report in the form of a poem.

This being the International Year of the Disabled Dr. Joy Ballard was invited as the guest speaker. Dr. Ballard is a very joyful lady who suffered from multiple sclerosis. Today she is handicapped but she is able to travel around and endeavours to help others less fortunate than she. She chose as her text Isaiah 40 verse 31, which was the theme of the rally. She said that the archaic meaning of waiting upon the Lord was to call upon the Lord. To do so gives you strength of spirit, she said, adding that she felt she had been given strength. She asked why we have only one year for the disabled, why not every year, or every day? We all are apt to have disability at some time in our life, she said. She went on to say that it is not what a person has lost, but what they have left that counts. She has refused to let multiple sclerosis be her boss and is helping other people accept their situations in life. She wondered if people have wheel chairs of the mind when they think about disabled people. We should see the person and not the disability, she said. Following her talk she was given a standing ovation.

Haliburton ladies served a salad luncheon.

The afternoon session opened with a Hymn Sing led by Ingoldsby U.C.W. Mrs. Betty Short sang a solo. The incoming chairman, Mrs. D. Finlay of Tory Hill and sec.-treasurer, Mrs. P. Thornt of Gooderham were introduced.

Reports of Presbyterian Officers were given with Mrs. Thea Brandsma reporting for the president, Mrs. Leola English, who was unable to be present. She reported that 15 women from this Presbyterian had attended Camp Quin-Mo-Lac, and she encouraged the ladies to attend the event at Stirling in November. She reminded the group of the executive meeting at Little Britain on November 9. Mrs. Brandsma also reported for Helen Tompkins, supply convenor, stating that used hearing aids were still needed, and that used clothing for Street Haven was acceptable. She reported that Mrs. Margaret Stewart, nominations convenor, had informed her that Mrs. Olive McDonald of Woodville had accepted the position of 2nd vice-president.

Maple Lake U.C.W. placed a bouquet of gladioli in memory of the members who had died during the past year.

The rally closed by singing, followed by the courtesy report and Benediction.

Happy Gang News

By Watson Anderson

Already plans are afoot for our autumn leaves scenic trip that is coming up this week but it will not be that long round trip mentioned earlier. Instead we will be content with distances much shorter like Minden or Carnarvon, maybe even Dorset but where ever, we will be having lunch on the journey. With that in mind, the ladies of Happy Gang banded together in the tutelage of Ivy Shaw to make and bake a whole slew of peanut butter squares to take along. Just thinking ahead.

Again they did a lot of thinking ahead in the afternoon to plan for the coming Christmas bazaar and what notions or trinkets they would make. We realize it is nearly three months away with surely a lot of time in which to make something, something that would generate a lot of fun in the making with an odd giggle thrown in. They did not inform us of the conclusions but it will come to light, no doubt, soon enough.

Tuesday morning June Devolin, her holiday over, appeared to continue our Bible study for the 1981-82 year starting appropriately with the Book of Genesis. It was a stupendous achievement that only an Almighty architect could do. He then made man in His own image that only an Almighty biologist could do. Thanks June for your concern for our spiritual welfare.

In the afternoon, impatience got the better of us and we took the autumn leaves scenic trip, bringing along the squares and a real nice tart citrus drink for all to enjoy out of those folding paper cups. We circled north Lake Kashagawigamog clock wise, stopping on the way to view Ivy's estate, very nice with excellent landscaping possibilities. On returning to Haliburton we had the lunch and drinks on Sky Line Park. Undoubtedly the leaves were at the very best and it will not be long before they have fallen.

What good will rights be to all Canadians if our economy is shot?

Many of the gorgeous bloom of the frontage here have pretty well faded from frost damage and as this occurs they are composted, thereby displaying only those that still have worth while beauty. One cheery tomatoe plant we planted in the spring rather aimlessly because we had no particular garden room for it, yielded two cherry tomatoes, one ripe, the other green. They are so cute and edible looking that we are saving the seeds of the ripe one then plan a place for them among the muskmelon because they adapt as do the melons to the laying down of plastic instead of hoeing, and if they thrive as the melons did this year we can have them grow like miniature cherry trees among the melons next year.

Tuesday's bingo was omitted to allow us the autumn leaves scenic tour and was held on Wednesday but with no volunteer helpers. Raymond Smith doing the calling and Ivy Shaw busy scrutinizing among the players for inadvertent omissions, a much needed help because not all of the residents are as keen as they would like or as they once were. Thus the slower ones get the same chance of winning as any of the others.

Fun and games were the order Thursday morning

I will try and tell you what happened last week at the Crest where you feel right at home and you're treated the very best. Jim Cooper took the service Tuesday morning, Rev. Brubaker Sunday night. They sure know how to tell you what is wrong and what is right. I wish more would come out to hear these fine men at service Sunday night and Tuesday morning at ten. The Ladies are getting ready for their Christmas Bazaar, with the help of some items made by one Teddy Carr. When it takes place I don't remember, but I think it is some time in November.

Monday night is movie night, all watches when wishes. One interesting movie showed how they make bone china dishes. Tuesday night is music night here at the Crest. This week we had Fred Ballard as a welcome guest. He played some fine selections on organ and piano. We all thought it really nice for him to come and play. Wednesday night is games night. You get so engrossed then you discuss afterwards who has won or lost. Thursday afternoon a group comes in and brings a lovely lunch and of course always they are a jolly bunch.

This week it was the Kinmount ladies from the Horticultural Society who brought over a lovely lunch with different variety. We would like to thank all these kind ladies for going to all the trouble. Every time you bring a lunch we're right there on the double.

Wednesday afternoon Doris took us for a ride to see the lovely colours all round the country side, the colour was so beautiful your breath would almost take. Back to Minden we did come, and were treated to ice cream. Then back home to Hyland Crest again, it seemed like just a dream.

Friday afternoon is sing song time with Norma Barron playing the music. Grace Coburn leads the singing. Mrs. Coburn has a lovely voice, much joy to us she is bringing.

I will close this letter now. I think I've done my best to tell what has happened here at Hyland Crest.

Until next time. Bert Harrison.

World Food Day

set October 16

The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (F.A.O.) has designated October 16 as World Food Day, to encourage thought about the issues of food production. World Food Day is to remind everyone - those who produce food and those who buy and sell it - of the harsh reality that world food supplies are in fact dwindling.

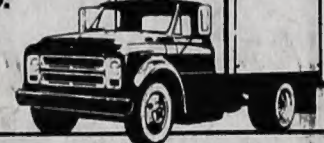

The National Film Board of Canada, to participate in World Food Day, has prepared a 14 page catalogue of free films dealing with the many aspects of food production and consumption in Canada and abroad.

when the residents (Happy Gang) were assembled in the craft room to display our skills in many exercises, calisthenics, pitching sand bags into a pail, or rolling balls at a target and many others similar and represents an organized change from too much sitting around. The fun adds a little humour.

For the noon meal Cecil Payne was honoured by having it privately in his room with his wife Pearl and her sister Luella Maughan. In the same party Martha Wiggins entertained her sister Bertha Barry. Everyone knowing everyone it was a communal party that all enjoyed.

In the afternoon the Happy Gang was greatly honoured by a visit from the Harmony Trio of Peterborough; Mignon Maynard, whistler, leader and announcer; Jean Belch, Hawaiian guitarist; Olive Wager, Spanish guitarist and Harry Woodbeck the man who guards the props. It is a remarkable group in having a lady who is a superb whistler who can add those meodious chirp variations accompanying the two blending guitars. We were treated to nearly two dozen delightful musical scores. Thanks ladies!

Jim Cooper, a member of the Gideons International in Canada, led us in the Friday morning devotional period; his wife Doris was usherette, and Margaret Sissons was the pianist. The theme was taken from Psalms 118 in which the psalmist gave grateful thanks to the Almighty for everything we have and will have forever into the future and perhaps even the past. Each day that God makes us is very precious even to those of the Happy Gang who have their infirmities much alleviated by the ministrations of extendicare staff. In everything we should give thanks. It was greatly appreciated having these friends coming to give this spiritual message and also join with us to partake of the afterservice snack of apple juice and cake.

In the afternoon were movies, Ray Smith projectionist;

1. High summer showing the marvellous extent that wild life use our swamps that sometime are misguidedly considered of no account. The (the swamps) are home sweet home to many wild creatures that are nice to have around and would be missed if they weren't and besides every swamp is a most efficient water reservoir, without which many droughts would be our undoing. 2. Birds of a seashore, - pretty well self explanatory. 3. Kew gardens situate west of London, England, show place world wide garden centre for world wide vegetation is a good summation and they work very hard at it.

There is no other explanation that we can think of when we say that the government of Canada has officially recognized blackmail as normal when the taxpayers are required to pay unskilled postal workers professional rates of pay. The new postal rates will no more than pay half what the cost will be.

The regular monthly meeting of Br. 129 Royal Canadian Legion was held in the hall on Thursday, October 1. President Sylvia Sisson was in the chair. The minutes of the last General Meeting and Executive meeting were read and approved.

The Sick and Visiting committee reported that Cecil Madill is in hospital in Peterborough. The Rev. Reg Brooks of Kilmount, one of our band members is also hospitalized in Peterborough. One associate member was accepted for membership.

The Poppy chairman is asking for help during the Poppy Campaign which is getting underway shortly. Any member who would like to assist in this cause can contact the Poppy chairman at the Branch. Poppy week begins November 1.

Associate members may participate in sports up to 100 per cent now. The only exception is Senior Curling.

A new television set is to be purchased in the near future as the present model is in need of extensive repairs.

There will be a turkey roll at the Branch on Saturday, October 10. Come out for some comradeship and win a turkey. Comrade Mel Robertson reported on a meeting he attended with the Library Committee in Minden concerning the cairn that Branch is proposing to build on the site. This should be completed early in 1982.

A discussion ensued on the subject of the 1982 District Drumhead Service to be held in Haliburton, and it was agreed that we start planning for this event right away. The Drumheads held at this Branch in the past have been most impressive affairs. It has been proposed that a ramp be installed in the Legion building to facilitate wheel chairs. This ramp will be installed at the back entrance of the clubroom. Government assistance is available for projects such as this during this the Year of the Disabled. The application must be in before the year's end.

Once again that time of the year when we gather to pay tribute to our fallen comrades is approaching and all veterans in the area are invited to join the annual Remembrance Parade on November 11. This day is for all veterans so please make a special effort to attend this year. Any and all help for the Poppy Campaign will be greatly appreciated.

800 Anglican delegates attend Synod

Clergy and lay delegates from St. George, Haliburton; St. Andrew, West Guilford; St. Margaret, Wilberforce were among the 800 delegates attending the annual Synod of the Diocese of Toronto last week. They participated in the opening service at the Cathedral in Toronto as the Right Reverend Geoffrey Parke-Taylor was instituted as Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese on Thursday, September 24.

In his charge to the delegates the Archbishop, the Most Reverend Lewis Gurnsey, called upon them to exercise leadership in renewing a vision of mission for the church through the "Anglicans In Mission" programme.

He used the vision which Terry Fox gave to the nation as an example of the power of "one person who cares and shares, can start a revolution."

He noted that the Anglican Church has an important part to play in the world today.

The Archbishop ended the stirring charge with a challenge to accept the leadership role in Anglicans in Mission and venture into the future. Synod responded enthusiastically and later in the day voted overwhelmingly in favour of participation in the Anglicans In Mission programme.

Delegates also passed the budget which provides almost $2 million in Outreach funds to provide services and ministry to the various areas of the Diocese, to the Church in Canada and work overseas.

In other legislation the Synod recorded the opposition of the Diocese to the Sports Pool proposed by the federal government and received a report on guide-lines for church members to arrive at positions and appropriate actions in political, social and economic matter.

This past week it seems, bad colds and flu bugs have been running rampant. Dorothy Crego, Mary Cox, Michelle Newman, Alex Graham and Jason Moss being but a few who are ill. Mary Gillis is in Ross Memorial and Father Brooks of St. James Parish is in Peterborough Civic. I hope all of you are back to good health very soon.

All best wishes go out to Leslie and Ada Thomas of Norland, who celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary on Sunday, October 4.

Another couple who celebrated their fifty-fifth anniversary by having open house on Wednesday, October 7 were Tom and Lily Ludlow. To all who know Tom, Lily would like you to know he's coming along. A speech therapist is helping greatly and Lily helps him exercise. She would like to thank all for the cards and words of cheer. A very happy anniversary to both these great couples.

While we're on the "happy's", a belated happy birthday to "Paw", Garland Barkwell on October 1.

Lucky winner of the Kinmount Legion 50/50 draw was Alex Roebuck of Erie Lake on Saturday, October 26. We had, as overnight guests one night last week, very dear, long time friends of our neighbours Joan and Ken Hyams, a couple from Toronto, Stan and Eleanor Jones who delivered to me a most beautiful pot of yellow mums and a lovely birthday card to match. I'll put the plant into our garden next spring and hope it thrives so that another spot in my garden gets a name.

We have a real pro in our midst, in the form of one, Father Raymond Hart, who won not one but two Clergy Golf Tournaments recently. In the first, on September 8 at Sleepy Hollow, he shot a 75 on the 18 hole course and then, at the Beehive Annual Clergy Golf Tournament, held September 12, he won with a score of 78.

Mary L. and John Pyke, Norland, Ida and Clyde Parady, Cobocok, spent part of their day in Lindsay on Friday past.

A happy fiftieth wedding anniversary to Ambrose and Clara Watson on Sunday, October 4. More on this happy occasion next week.

Are you ready for another bread recipe? You're not? Well, here it is: Special Swedish Rye Bread: 1 cup water, 1 cup mashed potatoes, 3 cups potato water, 1 tsp. salt, 1/4 cup molasses, 1 cup dark corn syrup, 2 cakes compressed yeast, 7 cups sifted rye flour, 1 cup whole wheat flour, 1 cup soy flour. Dissolve the yeast cakes in the mixture of salt, water, mashed potato and lukewarm potato water. Add some of the flour. Add the molasses and syrup. Mix in the flour, adding enough white flour to make a stiff dough, kneading it well. Put in a warm place to rise, then knead down again. Let rise, then form into loaves. Will make 7 loaves. Bake at 350 degrees F for one hour.

The A.C.W. held a meeting at St. James Hall last Wednesday evening and hashed over some of our upcoming events, one of them being a visit to Hyland Crest in Minden October 15 at 2 p.m. and another, our annual Turkey Dinner to be held this year at the Canadian Legion Hall in Kinmount on Saturday, October 24, 4:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Everyone seems to enjoy our dinners so we're hoping to see all of you and your friends come out again this year.

Mrs. E.A. Hills spent an enjoyable ten days with her grandson, Ernie Hills, recently while Mom and Dad Joyce and Jack train travelled out west where Jack had been asked to consult on the coroners system. Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

Fall is certainly here now. One day last week I heard a tap tap on my window and there was one of the Blue Jays wanting food. I hadn't thought they would be around so soon but luckily had some seeds on hand. The next thing I knew there were the chickadees as well. Since then there have been four different types of birds at the feeder. I got some suet and hung it above the feeder and are they happy. They sure are coming early though!

Dr. Neil Hewitt of Carlton Place spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. Joyce Hewitt.

On October 21 at the draw will be made at the Women's Institute meeting for the Afghan and cushion shown in Cox's Apparel window. Tickets are now on sale for this from W.I. members or contact Mrs. Annie Kernohan.

Mrs. Wayne Besner and David of Kapuskasing visited Mrs. Irene Stamp and other relatives over the week end and upon their return home were accompanied by Mrs. Fern Besner.

Winners at the L.O.B.A. card party at the Orange Hall last week were: Highs: Gloria Cameron; Lone Hand on a cut, Gladys Wruth.

The Martin brothers attended the ploughing match at Barrie last week.

The Prentice twins have done it again! Did you see them on T.V. last week advertising Dixie Lee Chicken? One of them said later that he nearly burst trying to get the chicken all eaten. Terry and Tony, why didn't you save some for the rest of us?

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Walker have been taking a much needed holiday in the north but Lloyd will feel ready for the next council meeting I'm sure.

Some of the ACW members are holding a bake and craft sale in the old S.W. Welch store on Saturday, October 10 starting at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Margaret Honsberger of Welland visited with friends in the village last week.

My friends, the Post Office, will not be issuing 17 cent or 35 cent Christmas stamps but for first class and overseas mail you will only get the regular as no new stamps will be issued until after the end of 1981.

We are sorry to hear Mrs. Helen Yake has left town and moved to Uxbridge.

Mrs. Ethel Harrison had Mrs. Lorne McCallum, Laurie McCallum and Marjorie Dawkins all of Lindsay visiting her on Sunday.

Life is a short day; but it is a working day. Activity may lead to evil, but inactivity cannot lead to good.

I may be one voice crying in the wilderness but I cannot see how anyone with any sense would put a birthday card at the same price as a first class letter so I am hoping that all organizations as well as individuals will send their protests in regarding this new rate for January. Please send your protests in now. The address is "Minister responsible, Rate representation, Canadian Post Corporation, Sir Alexander Building, Ottawa, K1A 0B1. It is time we made our voices raised regarding this and if we don't do it now it will be too late. Think of all the elderly who will not receive a card if ill on their birthday if we do not take a stand now. My letter has gone. May yours go too.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McKnight and family have been in California to attend the wedding of their daughter Luann.

Hamburger Vegetable Soup: 1 lb ground beef, 1 cup chopped onion, 1 cup diced potatoes, 1 cup sliced carrots, 1 cup shredded cabbage (optional), 1/4 cup rice; 2 (1 lb) cans tomatoes, 3 cups water, 4 tsp salt, 1/4 tsp thyme, 1 bay leaf, 1 cup sliced celery, 1/4 tsp basil (optional). Brown ground beef and onion. Drain off fat. Add the remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer for 1 hour. Makes about 9 cups.

St. Paul's thrift shop will be open upstairs this Friday, October 9 from 1:30 p.m. until 4 p.m.

It is with regret that we realize the Madill furniture store and the Candlewood gift shop are closed or closing. May we hope that we soon have business equal to them in their places.

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

We have learned that members of the weight-watcher's club took part on Sunday in a sponsored walk from Wilberforce to Harcourt with the proceeds going to the Cystic Fibrosis Fund. Evidently this is an annual undertaking and very commendable.

It brings to mind the fact that some people are unaware of the hours of free time contributed to the operation of public functions, such as those members of the Recreation Committee who spent a lot of time planning and then carrying out their various assignments cheerfully and efficiently. An army of volunteers are behind the preparing and serving of our famous dinners, ladies of the church give their time toward the making of quilts for missions, and then there are the saints who go door to door with the thankless job of collecting for charities, the continuing work of the Red Cross and the Kinsmen Club members. Don't forget our Monmouth Firemen who represent the only volunteer firefighting group in the county and the many active youth groups staffed by dedicated leaders.

Having such a number of fine people in this small community is one explanation for its growth and numerous achievements.

The Wilberforce Veneer Co. management officials met with members of the union recently to settle on a Union contract containing an agreement that granted the workers a 37 per cent raise plus holidays and other benefits over a 30 month period. The Veneer Company, mainstay of this community, is operating at full time. The old plant building on the main street of Wilberforce has been refitted with new machinery. Three new presses have been installed and these are in the process of turning out stacking chairs, chairs to be upholstered, wooden plates and blades for hockey sticks. This is an important move that will greatly benefit the area. Plant Manager Floyd Tighe reports that eight new jobs have resulted and this could swell to thirty in the near future.

The Firemen's Bingo games held every Thursday in the Memorial Centre have now finished for the year with the winning of the Jack Pot of $300 by Marjorie Tighe. 57 numbers were required and Marjorie was lucky on the 55th. The Firemen plan to begin new games next spring in the meantime fans can continue their pastime at the Legion Hall where Bingo is held every Monday.

This is the week end of our big Autumn Fest and let's hope that we have some fine weather for a change. You will find the Flea Market taking place at the Memorial Centre beginning at 10 a.m. while activities commence in the arena at 1 p.m. with live entertainment and a smorgasbord. For the young in heart a dance is scheduled for the evening with music by "Cimmaron".

Canada Post
Postes Canada

It's been stretched for almost 3 years.

We can't stretch it any further.

Implement a new service-monitoring process which will improve reliability.

Expand letter carrier delivery within many communities to provide more complete service.

Increase the availability of specialized mail services such as Priority Post, Special Delivery and Electronic Mail.

Taking positive action.

By soon becoming a public corporation, Canada Post will have the freedom to operate as a more responsive and efficient business, and eventually stop being a subsidized arm of government with its resulting burden on the taxpayer.

But no business can be healthy or efficient if it fails to recognize and adapt to the economic realities in which it must function.

And the present reality is that the existing postal rates do not reflect the costs involved in running Canada's mail service the way it should be run.

It is for this reason that Canada Post plans the implementation of new postal rates early next year.

Some of these planned rates can be seen in the following table:

1st Class letter in Canada 0-30 gm	30¢
1st Class letter to U.S.A. 0-30 gm	35¢
Parcel Post same city	1 kilo $1.10
1st Class Parcel e.g. Montreal to Vancouver	1 kilo $3.35
Special Delivery $1 plus 1st Class Postage

Canada Post has a national responsibility to provide the most reliable and complete mail service possible. The implementation of these new rates is necessary if revenues are to be brought more in line with operating expenses... necessary to ease the burden of a deficit on the taxpayer. And most important of all, necessary to allow Canada Post to become, through improved service, one of the best mail systems in the world.

Canada Post-setting things straight for the future.

In the Pentecostal Church plans have been finalized for the Youth Programme for the coming year, October to June. These involve sports, crafts, speakers, films, hikes, cultural activities, etc. On Monday, the Chatterbox group, girls from age 6 to 13, meet under the leadership of Mrs. Sauve. The Sr. Boys, led by Rev. Sauve, meet on Tuesday night while the Jr. Boys, with Dale Dovell and Rev. Sauve as leaders, meet on Thursday night. All meetings are held in the Community Centre. A rewarding year is anticipated. The leaders would appreciate any volunteer help in this programme.

Last Wednesday evening, 26 senior citizens met in the Community Centre for their "Pot Luck" meeting. As usual a variety of tasty casseroles and mouth-watering desserts tempted the calorie-conscious diners. Among the visitors welcomed were: Mary Jackson from the Guernsey Islands, visiting Dorothy Robertson; Elva Whitcombe, visiting her sister, Norma Fotheringham and Lorne Clark from Glamour Lake. All joined in a hearty sing-sing, accompanied by Len Smith on the piano, recently donated to the Centre by the Chatterbox group of girls. Card games or socializing brought the evening to a close.

While on his way home from North-Western Ontario where he has been employed, Ken Webster suffered a severe asthmatic attack in North Bay, requiring him to be hospitalized there. His many friends hope he may soon be able to leave hospital and that he may return to his home fully restored to good health. His son, Gary, has joined his mother in North Bay.

Among those who attended District 18 of Superannuated Teachers of Ontario at Wigamog Inn on September 30 were: Marjorie and Walter Madill, Ileen Hunter and Mary Hadley. Guest speaker, Sylvia Sutherland, of Peterborough told of her invitation by the Hon. Mark McGuigan to visit the United Nations at its sessions last fall. She gave a very informative talk, showing the importance of this assembly in the betterment of world conditions.

I have been canvassing for the C.N.I.B. this past week. Although I am not quite finished, I have found the response has been wholehearted and I feel very thankful to those who contributed so generously to this worthwhile cause.

"He has not learned the lesson of life who does not every day surmount a fear." The way the beautiful colored leaves are coming down it looks as if we might not have much to decorate the churches with for Harvest Thanksgiving. What a dismal time of year it is when the leaves are falling and there is wet snow in the air. Despite the gloomy time of year one goes on and faces what comes with determination and cheerfulness, if possible. Surely we will have a period of bright, sunny weather before the middle of November, so that we don't have to face the winter without some cheerful days behind us. I guess what will be, will be.

Norm and Doveina McKay's 50th wedding anniversary turned into a gala affair with over 150 attending. The senior citizen hall was beautifully decorated and there was an abundance of delicious food on hand, so along with visiting old friends a delightful time was enjoyed by all. During the interim between afternoon and evening gatherings a sumptuous meal was served for family and friends from out of town at the home of their son Roy and wife Heather. The happy couple would like to thank everyone for coming and for their tokens of good wishes. People were there from all parts of the province as well as one lady from Scotland.

Irene and Jack Clayton have returned from a trip through the eastern part of the province and into the U.S. While in Ottawa they attended the very impressive Memorial service for policemen slain while in the line of duty.

Several local couples have returned from a moose hunting party in the Timmins area. They report excellent weather and good hunting.

There have been numerous bus loads of Seniors and other beauty seekers touring the area to admire the beautiful colored leaves, but with the cold rainy weather we feel their trip wouldn't be too enjoyable. Better luck next year, we hope.

We are sorry to report the death of a man well known in the community. Homer Selby, of Portsmouth, Ohio, passed away last week in his 56th year after a lengthy illness. Mr. Selby had spent his summers in Dorset since he was a child and had many friends in the community. We extend sympathy to his friends and family.

Property week sponsored by OREA

Your home may not necessarily be your castle, says the Ontario Real Estate Association (OREA).

Concerned about government legislation which it believes may result in a serious threat to property rights, the 24,000 member association is sponsoring Private Property Week, October 4-10, 1981.

A variety of events are planned by the Association's 48 local real estate boards including historical tours, essay contests, poster contests, display booths at fall fairs and in shopping centres. The boards -- located in municipalities and major metropolitan areas throughout the province -- are responsible for events and activities within their areas. A spokesman for the Haliburton and District Real Estate Board said Monday that the local group supports the association efforts to inform the public about property rights and legislation.

The Association's concern with property rights goes back to its founding in 1922, says OREA's 1981 President Bob Pedler. "We started with the premise that property ownership was a basic right," he said, "and we have constantly fought for the protection and preservation of those rights over the last 60 years."

In recent years the Association published Losing Ground, which analyzes all legislation affecting property rights in Ontario. The study, released in 1980, found that more than 700 statutes or parts of statutes directly affected the rights of property owners to own, use or enjoy their land.

As part of its activities for Private Property Week, OREA is producing a follow-up study titled Lost Ground, which it says details six case histories of those whose property rights were infringed by government action (or, in some cases, inaction).

Concern about property rights in Canada also surfaced during the Constitutional debate last spring when the federal government refused to protect property rights in the Charter of Rights and Freedoms. Such rights have been upheld by Common Law and in the Dieffenbaker Bill of Rights, OREA says.

The entire episode warned Canadians that the government can arbitrarily take away basic rights and freedoms, commented Pedler. "It shows just how tenuous are our rights as property owners. And it shows that we must be vigilant and ever aware of them."

Private Property Week, through its various activities, is designed to educate the general public about those basic rights, he added.

"Our forefathers came to Canada believing that they could own their own piece of land and build a future for their families there. That's what built this country and makes it different from most other nations," he said. "We must protect those rights."

Private Property Week, operating under the theme "Preserving the Spirit of the Land", is designed to remind Canadians and particularly Ontarians of that heritage. It is therefore particularly appropriate, Pedler added, that the celebrations are being held the week before Thanksgiving.

In all, the Ontario Real Estate Association represents more than 80 per cent of all licensed real estate brokers and sales people in Ontario and more than 50 per cent of all licensed individuals in Canada.

For further information contact Barrie Doyle, Director of Public Affairs at the Ontario Real Estate Association, 99 Duncan Mill Road, Don Mills, Ontario, M3B 1Z2, (416) 445-9910, or a local real estate broker.

Test Soils Now

Anytime is a good time to take soil samples.

Most farmers leave the job of taking soil samples until late in the fall. However, soil sampling is much like cleaning and installing your storm windows. It is much easier to do either job when the weather is nice.

By taking soil samples now, you can have your report back in plenty of time to take advantage of any "specials" on 1982 fertilizers which may be offered during the fall.

Soil sample boxes are available from most local farm supply outlets and from the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

The analysis of farm soil samples at the Soils Lab in Guelph is free of charge. The time involved in taking samples is one of the best investments a farmer can make.

A new testing service for the micro-nutrients and zinc, is now available for Ontario farmers through the Guelph Soils Lab.

Manganese is deficient in some Ontario soils. Manganese deficiency usually appears as a pale green to whitish color between the veins of soybeans leaves. In oats, the deficiency causes oval spots on the leaves called "gray speck". On wheat and barley, manganese deficiency causes pale green or yellowish leaves, making this deficiency difficult to distinguish from other problems.

Most zinc deficiencies are found in corn. The deficiency usually appears at the four- to six-leaf stage as whitish stripes on the second or third leaf from the top of the plant.

Taking soil samples for micronutrient testing requires more care than regular soil sampling. Don't use galvanized (zinc-coated) tubes or buckets, and avoid dust contamination. Because micronutrient deficiencies usually occur in patches, sample only the problem areas not the entire field.

There is a charge of $3 per sample for the micronutrient test.

The User Does Pay!

We talked here last week about the negative economic impact of the MNR's sudden decision to withdraw funding for snowmobile trail grooming. Our strong stand became somewhat questionable when other editorial comment and quotes from the H.C.S.A. suggested that it was now simply time that the user and the resort industry pay for the development and upkeep of trails.

We, as a Chamber, are certainly in agreement that relying on "handouts" is no way to run an industry, such as snowmobiling, but we must point out that the snowmobiler has been paying for more than his share through licence fees. The government has stated emphatically that they cannot earmark these funds for a particular use, but it has taken relatively simple arithmetic for snowmobile owners over the years to calculate what little they were getting for return for their licence dollar. Now they get nothing and are told they should have been paying all along.

Then we come to the poor Lodge operator who is told he "no longer can expect a free ride." Lodge operators, surprisingly, as it may seem, are not raking in "thousands of dollars" in a lucrative

Trent Severn Waterway News

On September 28, the Reservoir Lakes in Haliburton contained some 59.2 per cent of their maximum usable storage depth of water. This was a drop of four per cent from the week before, but over the whole month of September the level was only down 5.7 per cent. Heavy rains early in the month had caused a rise to 69.9 per cent on the 14th.

As the month ended the Kawartha Lakes levels were within their navigation ranges, some near mid-range. Evaporation was a significant factor on the Kawarthas at least one week of the month, but very small losses were occurring the week ending September 28. Otonabee River flow had been reduced to about the power house capacity at 46 cubic meters per second, but by today some increases were necessary to counter the effects of the rain.

Lake Simcoe - Couchiching at 218.86 meters is now only about 5 or 6 centimeters above the curve. Evaporation has played a role in this too, since no flow changes have been made.

Navigation through the locks along the system will end on Wednesday, October 14, and Northern Reservoir dams will be set by our Trent-Severn Waterway crews for winter around or shortly after that time. This will reduce harmful water level drops for the fall-spawning fish like lake trout and eliminate many more hazardous stoplog changes when icing begins on the dams. This will be our last "News" for the season. Trent-Severn Waterway wishes all a happy fall and winter.

27. THANK YOU

Bert and Betty Trumbull and Art and Joyce Barras wish to thank everyone concerned for helping to make Judy and Randy's wedding day so very happy and special. Special thanks to Shirley Collis and Scott Gartshore and Rev. George Elliott. 27-B-7

The members of the Minden Library Cultural Centre would like to thank all those persons who attended our official opening. Your presence made the occasion most memorable. This was a community project and we wish to thank those who made the opening such a success. These include Reeve Lloyd Walker and the Councillors of Anson, Hindon and Minden, the municipal employees, Robbie Young, Bill Payne and the Kinsmen Club of Minden, the ladies who donated cookies, the ladies who served refreshments, the Horticultural Society, those who supplied floral pieces, Pat Campbell for tea table and door decorations, and Earl and Andrew Cooper for the Highland Welcome. 27-B-7

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Frances Louisa Hilda McPhail wish to express our heartfelt appreciation and grateful thanks to relatives, friends and neighbours for the beautiful floral tributes, and memorials and many acts of kindness. Special thanks to the doctors and nurses of Groves Memorial Hospital, Fergus, Ontario for their tender care, also to Rev. Glenn Rosch of London, Ontario for ministering strength and comfort to our hearts. To the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home we say a humble, yet very grateful "Thank you" for your very special service. God bless the Ladies of Full Gospel Lighthouse, Haliburton for the ministrations through a lovely luncheon served after the interment. 27-P-7

27. THANK YOU

We would like to express sincere thanks to all our friends for kindnesses shown and their cards of sympathy were greatly appreciated. Also special thanks to Dr. Good, the ambulance men and the Doctors and nurses at the Civic Hospital for their kind and untiring attention at all times, and to Gordon Monk for his great help, to the Masonic Lodge members for their funeral service and contributions to the Heart Fund, and to Rev. Trevor Denny for a very personal and beautiful service. Mrs. Pat Taylor 27-P-7

The family of the late Alex Kuehl wish to express their heartfelt thanks for the many cards, calls of concern, flowers and donations made to the different charities following our father's death. A special thank you to Rev. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Monk, doctors, hospital and ambulance staff. Your kindness will always be remembered. 27-P-7

28. BIRTHS

Rozanne and Peter Hynd are delighted to announce the arrival of their newly adopted son, Matthew James Alexander, born June 19, 1981, a brother for Catlin. 28-B-7

Rested at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, Minden for Funeral Service on Thursday, October 1st at 11:00 a.m. Interment Evergreen Cemetery, Haliburton. 31-B-7

32. IN MEMORIAM

LILLIAN BLANCHE LEWIS - In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away October 5, 1980.

What we'd give if we could say Hello, Mom, in the same old way; To hear your voice, see your smile, To sit with you and chat a while, So you who have a mother, Cherish her with care, For you'll never know the heartache Till you see her vacant chair. Sadly missed but never forgotten, daughter Jean and son-in-law Lloyd. 32-P-7

32. IN MEMORIAM

EMMERSON, EDITH - In loving memory of a dear wife and mother who passed away suddenly October 7, 1978.

Alone but never quite alone We face an empty chair, But sometimes in the silence, We imagine she is there. Our companion for so many years No longer here with me And yet in some mysterious way, She keeps us company.

Forever loved by husband Maurice and daughter Melissa. 32-P-7

LILLIAN BLANCHE LEWIS - In loving memory of a dear grandmother who passed away October 5, 1980.

Though her smile is gone forever And her hand we cannot touch, Still we have so many memories, Of the one we loved so much.

Sadly missed but never forgotten, grandsons Darryl and Lyle MacDuff. 32-P-7

LEWIS, BLANCHE. In loving memory of Grandma who passed away October 5, 1980.

In our hearts your memory lingers Sweetly tender, fond and true, There is not a day, dear Grandma, That we do not think of you.

Ever remembered Joani, Chuck, Dwain, Lisa and Darren Lindsay. 32-P-7

LILLIAN BLANCHE LEWIS - In loving memory of a dear grandmother and great grandmother who passed away October 5, 1980.

If we had all the world to give, We'd give it, yes, and more, To hear her voice, see her smile, And greet her at the door. But all we can do dear Grandma Is go and tend your grave, And leave behind tokens of love To the best Grandma God made.

Sadly missed but never forgotten Ray, Lorraine, Renee and Kenton Casey, Bill, Linda, Marsha and Dwight Bowers, Rodney, Geraldine, Jason and Julie Bowen. 32-P-7

HOYLE - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Richard Thomas who passed away October 8, 1979.

Gone are the days we used to share, But in our hearts you are always there. The gates of memory will never close, We miss you more than anyone knows. With tender love and deep regrets, We who love you will never forget.

Sadly missed by wife Mildred, daughters and son-in-laws, Sylvia and Ken, Sharon and Paul, Carol and Ron and grandchildren Angela, Janet, Randy, Ryan, Elaine and Annette. 32-P-7

DEAN: In loving memory of our dear mom, Nellie Dean, who died October 6, 1978.

You came for her one day, Lord, And softly held her hand Then gently carried her away Unto the promised land. Please take this message to her, Lord, For surely you'll agree. She needs to hear "We love you, mom" As she sleeps eternally. Remembered with love by Walter, Vera, Lorna and Bill. 32-P-7 winter business. Most are barely meeting expenses so far, but persisting in the hopes that we can build our Tourist business in the county into more of a year round industry. It is progressing, but it still needs all the help and cooperation it can get. Lodge operators have shown a willingness to contribute in both manpower and dollars towards any activity that will create winter business. They should be encouraged for their efforts towards improving our year round economy, rather than criticized.

Forty years later, after the most massive scientific effort ever put together by man, the atomic bomb disintegrated its first 200,000 people.

Forty years after this, man made horror we are witnessing, a similar massive effort by man, i.e. the disintegration of much-wants-more society. That society is determined to stop at nothing to get what it wants by honourable deception. There are more pseudo legal double standards than there are grains of sand. This is at a time when genuine, willing harmony is the most necessary ingredient needed in this world -- if it is to survive.

Yours sincerely,

To the Editor:

The following is an open letter to Dr. Watson Anderson:

Thank you for your kind remarks in the Echo September 30 regarding the dinner you attended at the Legion on September 22. This dinner is an annual event sponsored by Branch 129 and is one of the events of Legion Week. The guests include WWI veterans, Life Members and Silver Cross Women. The meal was prepared and served by two of the women war veterans of the branch of whom the President, Comrade Sylvia is one. We are happy to know that the meal and the comradeship were enjoyed by all those who attended and we hope to see you again during Legion Week 1982.

Yours in Comradeship
Marjorie Robertson PRO
Branch 129

Ministry of Industry and Tourism personnel continually stress to us how important long range planning is to our industry. In order to properly promote our area this winter all information on our winter events, what facilities are available at what cost, and what packages are being offered by the various Lodges was supplied to the Ministry offices over a month ago. Individual resorts have also sent to press their rate schedules for the winter. Now if only the Tourism Ministry could get their message to the Natural Resources Ministry they would use this kind of advance planning also. They suggest that it is a natural step that was anticipated since the funding that has represented a quarter of the H.C.S.A. budget was only "seed money". If this is the case there was certainly no reason that enough advance warning could not have been given to allow proper planning and preparation for the season that is almost upon us. The Minister owes the industry an apology - at least!

Small Business Week

October 25 to 31st is Small Business week across Canada and here in Haliburton County we have arranged a number of workshops pertaining to small businesses on the day of our annual meeting. The overflow crowd that attended the E.D.C. workshop on How to Start a Small Business will recognize the name Bob Pollock. They were so enthusiastic about his presentation that we have asked him to be our luncheon speaker and he will discuss how, when and why you should (or should not) incorporate your business. A panel made up of a representative of the Chartered Banks, F.B.D.B. and E.O.D.C. will talk about how to obtain financial assistance to build or upgrade your business. Ron Taylor from Georgian College and formerly with Deerhurst Inn will discuss promotion of a winter business. Other workshops will cover collections and credit, dealing with contracts, labour laws and how to deal with the bureaucrats that police them. Small computers are now available that relate to small business and these will be demonstrated of what is now available in that regard.

The day is topped off with the Annual meeting banquet at which Michael Perley of the Canadian Coalition on Acid Rain will be the guest speaker. He will bring us in touch with what positive steps are being taken in this very important battle and how we can help.

Registration forms are being mailed to Chamber members this week. If you are not a member and are interested in taking part in this informative day give us a call at the Chamber office, 286-1760.

Bill Seven - A Threat to Our Human Rights

When parliament re-convenes on October 13, they will be dealing with Bill 7, which replaces Bill 209, "An Act to Revise and Extend Protection of Human Rights in Ontario". This Bill is an outrageous example of what a government Hell bent on protecting the rights of certain minorities can do to the rights of the rest of us.

M.P.P. John Eakins is fighting the implementation of this unwarranted invasion of our rights. He would welcome your comments and inquiries on this matter.
